

THE WITAN

The Class of June 1949 proudly presents
The Village Number

Charlotte High School Rochester, N. Y.

DEDICATION

Miss Joyce Ellen Sharer

To Miss Joyce Ellen Sharer, who, for years, has given unselfishly her counsel and friendship to Charlotte students, the class of 1949, dedicate this volume of The Witan.

IN MEMORIAM

In the old school and the new, Mr. Allen served the teachers and pupils of Charlotte faithfully, cheerfully, and loyally for twenty-five years. His interest in his work was excelled only by the sincere interest in the people with whom it brought him in contact. Monitors, team members, council and committee members, seniors and seventh graders were all his friends. After his retirement in 1946, he was often a welcome visitor in the building.

The community was shocked and grieved by his untimely death on April 23, 1948.

Mr. Clarence Allen

Richard Newman

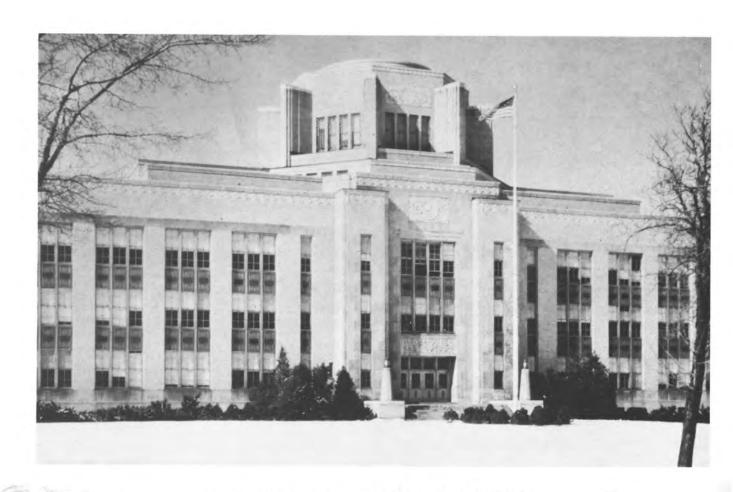

February 3, 1932 - November 27, 1948

The student body and teachers of Charlotte High School were shocked and saddened over the death of Richard Newman, a member of the class of 1950.

To the people who knew Dick best, there will remain always the memory of a quiet lad who was a good citizen, a boy who enjoyed life, a pupil who had a host of friends.

We shall all miss his friendly smile, his quiet sense of humor, and his willingness to do his share.

CHARLOTTE HIGH SCHOOL

Strong and firm hast thou stood Through the years that are gone, Holding fast to ideals high and true. All thy sons and thy daughters, Where e'er they may be Are inspired, Alma Mater, by you. II

Down thy time-hallowed halls
In the years that have passed,
Countless children of thine made their way,
And of friendships then formed

And of friendships then formed And of lessons then learned, Sacred mem'ries through life with them stay.

Refrain

Charlotte High, we hail thee!
Charlotte High we love thee!
May the Green and the White
Ever gleam in the light
Of the right, as thy sons fight for thee.
On the fields or in the class room,
Or on life's wide spreading sea,
With real courage bold,
We will always uphold
Thine honor and worth, Charlotte High.

THE VILLAGE OF CHARLOTTE

There is but little doubt that many of the pupils attending Charlotte High School often refer to their community homes as still being in the Village of Charlotte. This is not correct as the name Charlotte was legally discontinued in the year 1916, when the city of Rochester acquired title to the village and the district became the 23rd Ward. It is difficult to forget the name of our home territory that bore the name Charlotte Village for nearly a century and a half.

In the early history of the Genesee Country, the little hamlet located on Lake Ontario, at the mouth of the Genesee River, was of outstanding importance long before the settlement to the southward, which later became Flour City of our nation and Rochester.

In the year 1788, Phelps and Gorham acquired title to certain Seneca Indian lands in western New York, now generally known as the Phelps and Gorham purchase. A part of this purchase, west of the Genesee River, was known as "The Mill Lot" and here later, Phelps and Gorham located the Village of Charlotte. This Village was laid out by Phelps and Gorham's agent, Robert Troup. As the Village was originally designed, it consisted of thirty-nine large lots. Nineteen of these lots were on the west of a main highway, then called Broadway, and twenty lots on the eastern side of the highway, each lot extending to the marsh along the Genesee River. The Village was named by Robert Troup after his daughter, Charlotte Troup. About a year or so before the laying out of Charlotte Village the territory adjacent to it was designated by an act of the United States Congress as the District of Genesee. Samuel Latta was appointed Collector of the Port on November 2, 1805, by President Thomas Jefferson. In the beginning, the Port of Genesee was in the original town of Northampton, one of the Civic Divisions of Ontario County, which included all of the northern area lying between the Genesee and the Niagara Rivers. In 1812 the name Northampton was discontinued and the name Gates applied to a part of it. In the meantime, Ontario County was divided and Genesee County established. In the year 1821 our present County of Monroe was organized. In 1822 the old town was divided and the northerly part of it was named Greece, of which the Village of Charlotte was still a part.

In 1867-8 Charlotte Village was incorporated and in 1874 a Village Charter was obtained. Thereafter a Village President was elected by the people. In the year 1916 the city of Rochester extended its Municipal boundaries and the old and colorful Village of Charlotte became the 23rd Ward of the City of Rochester. The name survives, however, in our school, our library, our telephone exchange and in the names of various local business firms.

Charlotte Light

The old lighthouse was built in 1822, on a bluff about half a mile from the mouth of the Genesee. It helped to make Charlotte a noted port among frontier settlements. Later a harbor was built and new lighthouses situated on each pier. Recently these have been replaced and new equipment installed. The original lighthouse still stands, however, as an interesting historical monument.

It is the year 1959, and the last leg of the journey back to the district in which I spent the first eighteen years of my life is close at hand. There is a swish, a roar and, as if from nowhere, an atomic powered "LAKE TO BEACH AVENUE" bus glides up to wait motionless for my entrance. As the doors of the bus slide open whom do I see but ROBY MAHRT in the driver's seat. As I pay my fare, he assures we that driving a bus is much safer than driving a motorcycle. Hurdling a four-foot white line, I find I am surrounded by my old schoolmates, BEVERLY LERCH, NORINE DESMITH, DOROTHY FRANKLIN, and LOUIS CLARK. Deciding to tour the village of Charlotte together, we step off the bus arm in arm.

As we stroll down the six wide lanes of Lake Avenue, we are astounded by the rapidity with which the Charlotte village has become a paradise of modern enterprise. All around us we see neon signs signifying the wealth and prosperity of this great and growing center of activity. The first object that looms into sight is our old alma mater, Charlotte High School. Upon entering the building we are trampled by a thundering herd of Translakers, headed by DR. JAMES CARLSON, in a mad rush to catch the Toronto Supersonic Special. As we pick ourselves up from the steps our attention is attracted to a solemn ceremony in a quaint little cemetery across the highway. Venturing closer we witnessed a ritual for "Sam" GRISWOLD, who attempted to jump the Stutson Street Bridge with his tame bear. He tried to perfect the feat at which his idol Sam Patch had failed. Services were administered by the Rev. Mr. FRASER, pastor of the local church. KATHRYN FYFE and KATE GEREW are mourning the passing of their hero.

Continuing on our journey, we are welcomed by BETTY DILL, owner of the "Dill Pickle Factory." She named GLORIA PFAHL, MARJORIE SILLS and CAROL SCHIEFER as her chief picklers and LOIS GAUCH and BARBARA HART as the controlling stockholders of the corporation. Moving in the direction of St. PRITCH-ARD'S Arena, the home of the Charlotte Royals, we noticed the quintet's name inscribed on the programs sold by MERCEDES LEONARD and MARILYN KOESTER. These sharp-shooting lads, STAN BUTZER, MAT KRITCHEN, TOM PATRICK, JOHN STANDING and RALPH KIRBY compose the roster of the Royals. This aggregation is financially backed by tycoon NEIL PARSHALL, monopolist of the Ontario Confectionaries.

Facing the street again we see YVONNE CASON, JOAN HERMAN, MONA CLARK and MARY STONE-GRABER playing the modernized version of hop-scotch.

A colorful neon sign that flashes "POOL WITH A PUR-POSE" designates the Charlotte Billiards, now hereditarily owned by LODER BRYCE. Moving in to better our perspective, we look over the shoulder of HERB CARBONE, who has just completed his weekly report on the parleys. A shout of triumph reaches our auditory nerves as HERMAN GRIEGER announces that "Skip" GREENE has just won the third race at Churchill Downs. RAY FOY leaves his billiard cue to collect his winnings and then joins us on our escapade.

Our group then enters the "Pair-a-dice" Casino, owned and managed by Uruguay's own TOM DES-MOND. A floor show is going on, with such notables participating as DICK WESTBURG and his Be-Bop Band, featuring the sweet trumpet of DICK BERNDT. Also on the billing are "THE JOHNSON SISTERS," KATE, NORMA and ARLENE, top song stylists of the year. In the spotlight, run by JUNE BOND and EDDIE MEYER, are the favorite comic personalities, "Bud" WRIGHT and "Lou" ALLEN. Sharing the spotlight are the perennial favorites, "Burl" MAKOWIECKI and KEITH BOWER, with their syncapated song-stylings. Upon leaving the establishment (with no help of the bouncers, TOM ROETHEL and BOB McPHERSON) we stand motionless looking for familiar names and places.

The first one to catch our eye is a sign stating "Madame SECHRIST'S Dancing School." The elevator taking us up to the twelfth floor is operated by PAT DEFELICE, who once said she always wanted to get up in the world. PHYLLIS PERRIN and ESTHER SEEMAN greet us at the door to the dancing studio (they are studying ballet and are on their way to change their tights). We are amazed to see DAVE DELANEY and "ZIGGY" BONEHAM going through a real hep number with dancing partners JOAN CORRIGAN and EILEEN HAUS. We could plainly see why they enjoyed their work.

After leaving the studio, I left the group momentarily and wandered over to the "MALCOLM Custard Stand," where JULENE and MARGARET GURNEE are busily scooping custards for CAROL WELCH and MALCOLM ROBERTSON. Before joining the rest of our party, who are over visiting MORLEY TURPIN in his new pharmacy, I went to see STAN "Money Bags" DETTMAN. He had worked himself up to the presidential position in the Charlotte branch of the Federal Reserve System. STAN is busy counting money, so I won't bother going in now, but I can see BOB MURPHY, his assistant, giving orders to tellers LAURA VAHL and IRENE CLEMENTS.

OF PROGRESS

I am back with the gang once again and now we can continue our survey of the village. One of the more recent developments in the community is a huge farming cooperative, led by "Practical" PERKINS, HANK FERRARONE and JEAN TAYLOR. A huge herd of Holstein cows, tended by DON EISENSCHMID, keeps MIKE GIARDINO'S Liberty Dairy Trucks on the move.

A large building denoting the local Bijou Theater rises in our line of vision. Approaching this massive structure we became aware of the cashier, MARION STUDER of Studer-baker fame. The RKO movie house is managed by CAROL ALDRICH and DIANN MUEL-LER, who are employed by Hollywood's top producer, DICK GROTH. The main feature, co-starring ROGER HILL and ANNE SPAULDING, is entitled "Babes in Arms." The supporting cast includes starlets SHIRLEY JINCKS, MARY SWEET and PRISCILLA MANNING. This film is a production created by MGM (Metro-GILBERT-MULLETT). The second attraction is a flicker, featuring DON HOLLY and MARGIE SALMON, in a "WARNEY" Brothers' production, "Life Sentence." The current weekly serial stars MARY TRACY in "My Brother's Triumph" or "Dick Tracy Captures Shmoo-Head." The part of Dick Tracy is played by KEN HED, the two-gun terror whose last picture was "The Whip." Four usherettes escort us to the door and then we recognize SHIRLEY SAUCKE, DOROTHY KLEIN, CAROL OLCOTT and BARBARA THOMSON.

Adjacent to the theater is a replica of California's "Brown Derby." This restaurant is managed by LOR-ETTA DERBY. Her publicity agent is TERRY TAGGERT. A large annex to DICK DAGGS' Garage is located near the Billiard Hall. MERT QUERCIONE and HAR-OLD QUIGLEY, two capable mechanics are employed by this automobile rehabilitation center. We are overjoyed by the presence of BARBARA PAYNE, the multi-millionaire heiress, sight-seeing in her new Rolls-Royce convertible. Her car is being serviced by Atom Station attendants, RUTH "Legs" LANE, JANET LACY and BARBARA TRUSSELL.

Before going to the Mayor's office at the City Hall we are going to stop momentarily at the new bath-house and observe its interior. While we are down at the beach it is suggested that we take a dip in the blue waters of Lake Ontario. This suggestion was with-drawn when we saw the female lifeguards, ANN WADSWORTH and NANCY TSCHORKE. We came to the conclusion that it would be much safer merely to observe the Pacific waters. Instead we decided to rest on the sand next to RHODA VAN ATTA and SHIRLEY WARD, who are obtaining great gratification from throwing sand at members of the opposite sex.

To reach our destination we find it necessary to cross the modern plastic walk (formerly the board walk), on which is situated a refreshment stand occupied by CHUCK MAMBRETTI and RAY HORSWELL. They are announcing their "delicacies" in the form of "Popnuts, cigum, chewinggars and peacorn." We won't be able to reminisce with them, because there is quite a crowd gathering about them.

Entering the doorway to the bath-house, we take a sharp right turn leading to a large, heavy-set door. Without reading the inscription on the door, we fling it open only to find ourselves in the Ladies' Shower Room, and thoroughly embarassed. In a matter of seconds, the girls, ELAINE CORNELL, IRENE PAETH, VIRGINIA CORYELL, JANET INGERSOLL and JEAN HERRICK have disappeared to a safer place. Standing before us is PAUL ANDRUS. After pausing just long enough to hear him say, "I am the chief ladies' shower room attendant," we realize that we have heard and seen enough and retrace our steps to the street.

The light from our rosy-red faces enables us to see the stairs which we must ascend to reach our destination.

We enter the judicial building and wait in the reception room until we are admitted to the inner office. The mayor's secretary, SALLY LOTT, greets us and then announces our presence to the Mayor. We shake hands with the honorable TOM WOODMAN and then chat about the success of our schoolmates. I ask the mayor this question: "Could you summarize the progress made by our classmates in the last ten years?" Tom answers, after careful consideration of the question. He replies, "Considering the important factors which determined the future of our classmates, I find that they have progressed in social functions and business transactions most satisfactorily. This, of course, has been exemplified in your visit to the establishments of our classmates. The application of Semantics to certain developments has definitely affected the outcome of their futures. The past ten years have been very important to them, and I hope that they may continue to prosper in the oncoming years."

A vivid picture of the day's events flashed through my mind as I listened to his remarks. That was my last look at the village of Charlotte.

The New York Central Bridge

The railroad bridge was erected in order to transport fruit from this area. Before the Stutson Street Bridge was completed in 1918, people from Summerville walked over the railroad bridge to come to Charlotte. It is now just a connection between Charlotte and points east.

St. George's Hall

St. George's Hall will be remembered to some Rochesterians as a roller skating rink, which stood on the corner of Stutson Street and Lake Avenue. This building was purchased in 1886 and used for church services until 1892 when the hall was moved south on Lake Avenue to make room for a church proper. From 1892 to this year, the old roller rink has served as a parish house and a general community center for social activities. The dilapidated state of this building has made it imperative to build a new hall and the old structure is being demolished.

The Executive Council is the governing body of the Students' Association. The council plans events and parties to raise money for both activities within the school and drives outside of the school. It also approves appointments of many student offices, creates the school budget each year, and checks the major activities in order that they may run smoothly.

Much of the correspondence carried on with other schools comes primarily from the members of the Executive Council. It is usually true that these members are of high scholastic ability and possess qualities of leadership. The council in action, with Mr. Denison, Miss Miner and Mr. Frasch as its advisers, is a perfect example of democratic school government, with its nine students activity representatives and the president, the vice-president, the secretary, and the treasurer of the school all working toward a goal of better understanding, higher spirit, and smoother functioning of the students government at Charlotte.

STUDENT ASSEMBLY COMMITTEE

The Student Assembly Planning Committee was formed in September, 1947, under the chairmanship of David Delaney. The committee members were chosen as they indicated interest in assembly planning. Faculty members were appointed to the committee according to their special fields.

The Assembly Committee began its work by outlining programs and making suggestions for better assemblies. In October a health skit was planned. This assembly marked the beginning of the committee's program. During the rest of the term the committee studied past programs and developed ideas for improvement.

In March of 1948 Lois Gauch succeeded David Delaney as chairman. At the Easter, 1948, assembly the committee presented the first fully planned program, which included vocal and instrumental solos, an Easter story and community singing.

The Student Assembly Planning Committee decided to plan all senior and combined assemblies. Each member brings ideas to the meeting. All assemblies are outlined during the meetings and individual members are appointed to carry out the various details. Some of the assemblies during the year are planned by specific school activities. In such cases, the committee approves the program. Translake and Senior Moving Up Day assemblies are examples of this.

In September of 1948, the committee received representation on the Executive Council. It was decided that the chairman should be the official representative. In October, Beatrice Brothers and Mary Sweet were elected assistant chairman and secretary, respectively.

The committee has presented this year: It Pays to Be Ignorant; a Talent Show; Secret Land, a documentary film—Admiral Byrd and his Antarctica Expedition; Diabolical Circle, Thanksgiving Play; Christopher's Candle, Christmas Play; Miracles For All, by Fred Hartman.

The Student Assembly Planning Committee has endeavored to present better assembly programs. Helpful suggestions and criticisms have always been welcomed.

Co-op is the student financial plan to raise money to underwrite all student activities. This committee functions through the students, who pay to the homeroom representatives the sum of two dollars and fifty cents over a period of fourteen weeks. The representative, in turn, gives the money to the Co-op Committee office.

The Co-op Committee consists of about ten students, with Ann Spaulding as chairman and Kenneth Hed as publicity manager. Mr. Frasch is the adviser of the committee. This committee keeps an accurate account of the money turned in, then deposits it with Mr. Tracy, school treasurer, who releases it in accordance with the school budget.

By belonging to Co-op you are entitled to free admission to many home games and wrestling matches, a teen canteen, senior and junior high school parties, and a free Pilot monthly. Most important, you may purchase a copy of the Witan for one dollar, while non-Co-op members have to pay the full price of three dollars and fifty cents, if there are any available. Nearly all activities in school are practically, and in some cases completely, financed by Co-op.

The Service League is an organization consisting of several groups whose aim, objective, and purpose is to serve the school community. It was started with the opening of the new Charlotte High School, under the direction of Mr. Everett Woodman. The present director is Mr. F. Alton Frasch. Chairman of the different member groups are as follows:

- Bank Clerks—Arlene Johnson
 The bank clerks are responsible for the thrift program in the school and have charge of the deposits made on Monday mornings.
- Book Store Helpers—Geraldine Quant
 The Book Store is open daily before and after school to sell school supplies to the students.
- Cafeteria Monitors—Lawrence Wolf
 These monitors assist in keeping order in the lunch room. They also provide music throughout the lunch hour to make it more enjoyable.
- Fire Drill Flag Squad—Robert Anderson
 This squad assembles at the front entrance at the end of each fire drill, and by the use of yellow or orange flags recall the students to their classes.
- Hall Monitors—Kenneth Hed Hall Monitors are on duty throughout the day to

- act as guides and messengers.
- Library Assistants—Shirley Street
 These assistants work in the library, helping Miss Cashman check books.
- Lost and Found—Carol Olcott
 On duty before and after school helping to restore lost articles to their rightful owners.
- 8. Office Practice Assistants—Jean Herrick These girls help different teachers with any work they may have, staying with one teacher for half a term and then changing to another for the second term. Each girl may have a different teacher or sometimes there are as many as three girls to one teacher.
- Safety Squad—Herman Grieger
 The Safety Squad is in charge of student safety at street crossings and on school property, conducting inspections of the building and taking charge of the yard clean-ups in the spring.

Assisting Mr. Frasch in the supervision of the Service League are: Mr. Donald Bartholomew, Mr. George E. Bird, Miss Helen Cashman, Mr. Edward Courtney, Miss Ethel Newman, Mr. William Quenen, Miss Helen Skiff and Miss Hazel Stowell.

SERVICE LEAGUE COUNCIL

"Being of Unsound Mind..."

We, the class of June 1949, of Charlotte High School, City of Rochester, County of Monroe, State of New York, being of unsound mind and body, do hereby declare and publish this our last Will and Testament in the manner following, that is to say:

- We direct that all our debts and class indebtedness be paid.
- The English IV classes leave a blueprint to Mr. Westburg, concerning the construction of a "Little white house with nothing but a fence running around the yard."
- We bequeath Miss Doehler a life-size picture of "Charley Atlas" to replace those horrid "Esquire Models."
- To Mr. Quenan, our beloved mentor, we leave one Doc Blanchard, sans a Glenn Davis.
- Tom Desmond leaves his Uruguian concept of "Better government" to Eddie "Einstein" Parks.
- Frank Makowiecki leaves his high scoring ability to Pat (Pumper) Parshall.
- "Skip" Greene gives his Churchill Downs jockey uniform to Pat Farley.
- Don Holly relinquishes his "Ball and Chain" to Don Moyer.
- Julene Malcolm's "know all" is left to some ambitious junior.
- Eddie Meyers leaves his "keys" to the capable Bill Howard.
- To any member of the Junior class planning to take solid next year, we leave Betty Crocker's recipe for chocolate cake.
- 12. "Ziggy" Boneham leaves . . . ???
- Betty Dill, Alice Sechrist, Barbara Payne and Catherine Johnson leave their cheerleading abilities to Barbara Butzer, Sue Milhofer, Kay Briggs and the Long sisters.
- Loder Bryce leaves his "Mystery Voice" to next year's Teen Canteens.

- To Robert Pignone we bequeath the football prowess of Mike Giardino, star guard last season.
- Dave "Leo" Delaney leaves his dancing popularity to Dave Schiefer.
- To Dr. Gell we bequeath one dozen washers to repair those "dripping faucets" in Translake.
- "Irma" Wadsworth leaves her vim, vigor and vitality to next year's basketball team.
- Jim Wright, Dick Daggs and Stan Dettman leave their copies of "How to Win Friends and Influence People in Small Towns," to three adventurous juniors.
- Shirley Saucke leaves her ready blush to Pat Willey.
- Pat DeFelice bequeathes her quaintness to Margie Weller.
- Roger (I'm not bald) Hill leaves his wig to Jim Gardner, for next year's assemblies.
- Loretta Derby leaves to Mr. Quenan's track team her ability to run non-stop from the bus to home room.
- Dick Berndt and Diann Mueller leave their cozy nook near room 145 to Ray Groshans and Matty Webber on condition that they tolerate the constant ribbing from Miss Doehler, Mrs. Mitchell and Miss Briggs.
- Tom Woodman leaves his friendly smile to the indifferent Bill Friday.
- Loder Bryce and Don Holly leave one wellsharpened pencil to Mr. Westburg, to replace the one he used correcting the class Prophecy.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, we hereunto subscribe our names at Rochester, New York, the 1st day of February, in the year one thousand nine hundred and fortynine.

The Ontario

Ho-o-ot! Ho-o-ot! The car ferry is blowing for the bridges; slowly the Stutson Street Bridge begins to rise, the New York Central Bridge begins to turn, and the ferry slips away with cars and cars of coal for Canada. If you live on the Irondequoit side of the river you may be waiting for the bridge to come down again, so you will not be late to your appointment.

In the summer one ferry runs on daylight schedule to Cobourg, Canada, and for about $2.00, you may go abroad for a delightful day. You may bring your food or buy it on the boat, but be sure to provide for two big meals!

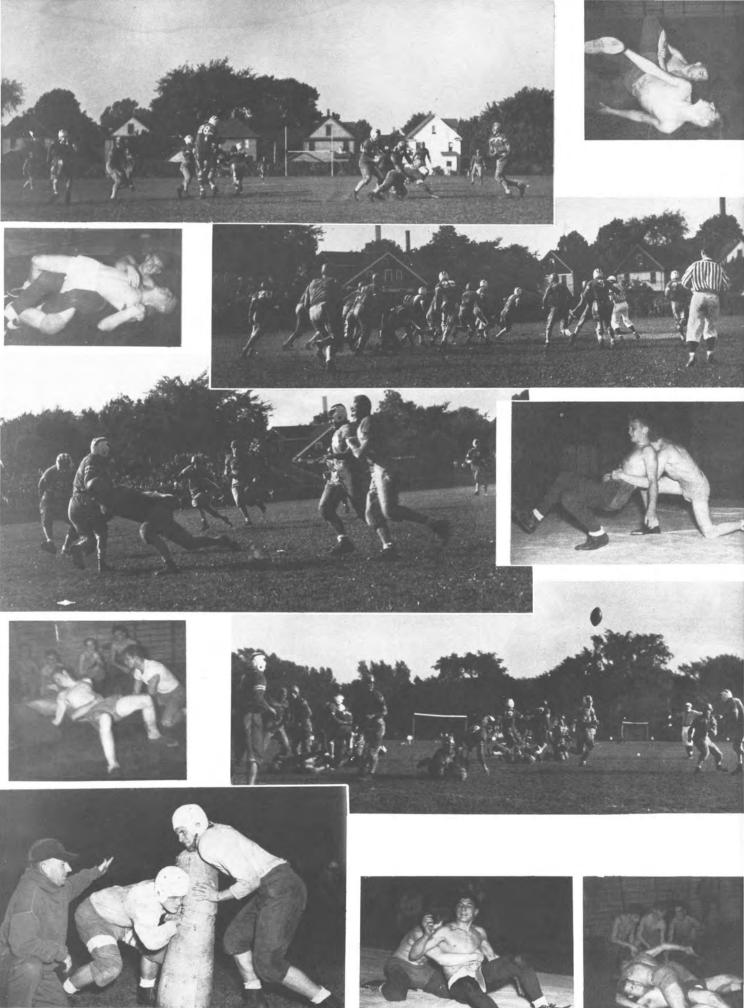

Mr. Erenstone

Lesser Erenstone came to Charlotte High School as a physical education teacher in January, 1928. Charlotte was one of the first secondary schools in this section to initiate individual health training, and Mr. Erenstone was considered one of the best instructors in that field. Known to the teachers as "Less," and to most of the students as "Snuffy," he has become one of the best loved teachers and coaches at Charlotte, and has won recognition over the years for his kindliness, gentleness, and sportsmanlike character.

In 1908, while still a youngster, "Snuffy," as a member of the United States Olympic Team, competed in the gymnastic events at Frankfurt-on-the-Main, Germany. From 1910 until 1916 he taught in the Batavia School for the Blind, where as a hobby, he learned to read the Braille system. He has been a scoutmaster in Genesee County and an examiner for merit badges.
